What we do differently at Pinc College

- Specialise in supporting Neurodiverse young people
- Offer a purposeful pathway to careers in the cultural and creative sectors
- Offer a Creative Study Programme
- Based in Museums and Art Galleries
- Provide a supported autism pathway
- Small learning groups (No more than 7)
- Tailor our programmes to your aspirations
- Embedded & 1:1 support where required with our EHCP coordinator, Speech & Communication and Mental Health practitioners
- Dedicated team of qualified and experienced education professionals
- Work with an ethos of being Respectful, Responsible, Safe & Kind

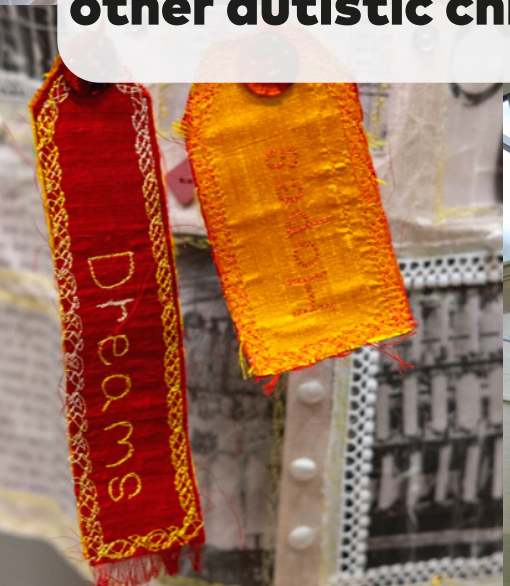

Being a student at Pinc College. has made me think more about the future, careers and also open up to the idea of voluntary work and apprenticeships.

> I now hope to inspire other autistic children

Study Programmes and Curriculum Content

Our framework for purposeful learning

- Our curriculum focuses on Art Design and Craft attainment and qualifications, with English and Maths where applicable.

- Our curriculum focuses on Art Design and Craft attainment and qualifications. Functional skills such as English, Maths, Communication and ICT are embedded throughout each individual study programme. Where students aged 16-18, and 19-25 with an EHC Plan, have not attained the required grades in English and Maths, our study programmes will comply with the ESFA condition of funding regulations.

- Engage is our full time creative learning framework, giving access to level 2 and 3 qualifications, over 1 or 2 years, with work experience in the cultural and creative sectors

- Link programmes, pre enrolment available to support transition

The Specialist College for creative education in Yorkshire, North West and Midlands focusing on creative study pathways for 16-25 year olds.

Our Creative Learning Studios operate from within and in partnership with Arts and Heritage organisations, for an alternative approach, with enhanced careers and progression opportunities.
We support additional/high needs routes to wellbeing, attainment, sustained engagement and employment.

“I have seen confidence grow, life experiences broaden and more importantly a love of learning reignited. A brilliant partnership to be part of.
